

THE IRON ERA.

SATURDAY, APRIL 27, 1872.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

The city water-pot would be appreciated just now. We hope the enterprising contractor "for the laying of the duct" will begin his promenade about town without further notice. Our citizens will cheerfully "come down with the dust" in order that they may have the privilege of opening their doors and windows.

The Ogden Mine R. R. Co., at Hurdston, are building a piece of track 1200 ft. in length, part of which is a grade of 210 ft. to the mile. It is being built for the use of the Glendon Iron Co., to bring ore from the mouth of their new slope to avoid carting. At the different ore docks along the line of the O. M. R. R. there are 40,000 tons of magnetic iron ore awaiting shipment to the furnaces in the Lodi region. This, with the amount to be raised by the 1st of next December will make the tonnage of the Road greater than ever before.

On our first page will be found the "Beer Law," which is said to have been presented to the Legislature by the Board of Freeholders of Monmouth county. They saw that many beer saloons were kept by irresponsible persons, and that much of the crime brought before the Courts was traceable directly to them; they therefore unanimously determined to petition that they be placed on the same footing with hotels. When the law was brought before the Legislature it appeared that other parts of the State were similarly affected, and the law was not amended as to become general. We do not think that any one will question the justice of the law. The law takes effect on the 4th of July.

The small-pox in Boonton is subsiding. On Sunday last all the churches were open for services and the seats well filled. The schools re-open on Monday next. During the past week a number of new cases have developed in houses already infected, but no persons outside of these houses have taken the disease. Two deaths have occurred during the week, making four in all.

The quarterly meeting of the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance, of this State, was held in McDevitt's Hall in this city last Wednesday, commencing about 10 o'clock A. M. with 75 representatives from almost every part of the State. Twenty members from subordinate divisions were initiated. The various reports handed in show about the usual increase in membership, 600 having been added during the quarter, making a total membership in the State of over 6,000.

A system of public meetings have been instituted under the supervision of a committee, 75 of which have been held in different parts of the State during the quarter. The expenses of these meetings are met by a general fund from the subordinate divisions, and have been very successful, the object being to educate the public mind in temperance principles, and to eventually bring to bear upon the traffic of the popular will of the people for its certain abolition.

As an indication of the growing sentiment of temperance men, a most emphatic and unanimous vote was had, denouncing the use of liquor "medically," as prescribed by physicians, and which is acknowledged to be a growing evil with this profession. This subject excited much comment and was thoroughly discussed in all its multifarious points.

In the evening a public meeting was held in Prospect St. Hall, which again thoroughly demonstrated the fact that a public hall of large dimensions is very much needed in Dover, a large number of persons being unable to gain admittance. About 75 members of subordinate divisions "in this vicinity," in full regalia, marched from the Division room to the Hall, where seats were reserved for them, preceded by Dover Cornet Band, which discoursed excellent music at intervals during the meeting.

The exercises opened by Rev. A. M. Palmer, of New Providence, who appealed eloquently to the Throne of Grace for strength and wisdom in the conduct of the affairs of the organization that it may redound to the honor and glory of God. S. B. Hanson, of Jersey City, Most Worshipful Patriarch of North America, was then introduced to the audience, who devoted his time to a history of the organization from its formation in New York thirty years ago, to the present time, from which we learn that there are 43 Grand Divisions on this continent, 2000 subordinate Divisions, and 180,000 members. The organization also has a membership in Great Britain of 10,000; and in Australia of 8,000. It is estimated that not less than fifteen hundred thousand are being initiated since the formation of the society.

Rev. Mr. Palmer followed, confining his remarks to the youth of both sexes. Franklin Devereaux, Esq., was also present and spoke for three-quarters of an hour. He reviewed the action of the New Jersey Legislature during last winter, in regard to the Local Option Law, and the causes that prevented its passage, illustrating his remarks by applicable anecdotes and pointed hits, which were apparently well received by the audience.

Rev. O. B. Hartman, Grand Patriarch of New Jersey, concluded the exercises by a most enthusiastic appeal in support of temperance measures, but on account of the lateness of the hour his remarks were not of that extended character which many wished for. The audience were held by the speakers from 8 till half-past 10 o'clock, and expressed themselves highly pleased with the visit of the Grand Division. It was altogether a pleasant and harmonious session.

A series of very interesting experiments were made at the Giant Powder Works, near McCainsville, last Wednesday afternoon. Railroad companies and all public carriers naturally enough dread the proximity and transportation of such combustible as powder and glycerine, and consequently great precautions are taken with the former, and in many cases the freighting of the latter is utterly refused. It was partly with the view of convincing railroad men of the entire safety of transporting Giant Powder by rail, and to show the great explosive power of the article with the safety and facility with which it may be handled, and its adaptability for the various purposes of blasting and mining, that these experiments were made, consequently we shall give no description of the buildings, nor the process of manufacturing Giant powder, reserving this for another article.

The party, consisting of Gen. Newton, chief of the Ordnance Dept., U. S. A., and also Superintendent of the excavations for navigation through Hartgate, at New York, Gen. Tompkins, President of the Diamond Drill company, Col. Reed, of the Erie Railroad company, Mr. James B. Lewis, Mr. A. Canfield and Mr. Jardine, largely interested in the mining business in this vicinity, were present, and shortly after their arrival, Mr. Vanehey, representing the Powder company, with Mr. Fred. Johnson, overseer of the works, proceeded with the experiments.

It was first demonstrated that Giant Powder could not be exploded by direct contact with fire. Two large cartridges were enclosed in a tight box and fired by means of a fuse, the contents burning with a bright flame, and the fire extinguished by being smothered on the ground. These experiments were made with Nos. 1 and 2 of the powder, together and separately.

Another experiment, and one that was considered a very severe test, was the placing of a large charge of common rifle powder on top of and in direct contact with a charge of Giant Powder, in a hole bored into a log of tough apple tree wood. The black powder was exploded with a fuse, sending the log from end to end, but leaving the Giant Powder undisturbed. A fuse with a percussion caput one end was then inserted into the hole and the Giant Powder exploded with a tremendous report, resulting in the complete satisfaction of the gentlemen interested. Several experiments of this character were made, showing the relative and different manner of execution of different kinds and grades of powder.

It was suggested that the peculiar contact in a railroad accident would probably explode Giant Powder, when the article was put to another severe test. Two cartridges were enclosed in a box screwed tightly together, and placed on a flat rock, under a doorway in the second story of an adjoining barn. A large stone was then repeatedly precipitated from this height upon the box, until it was completely broken to pieces and the powder strewn about the rock. The loose powder was then gathered in a heap, and again the stone was dashed upon it, but still it failed to explode. The powder was now gathered a second time, and while lying loose upon the rock it was exploded by the means used for that purpose, tearing the stone into fragments.

A fire was next kindled in an adjoining field, and cartridges of giant powder laid in the flames, allowed to be about half consumed, then extinguished and afterwards exploded by the usual means, making the hills reverberate again and again with most terrible reports.

About six o'clock, the party having expressed great satisfaction at the results of the experiments, after partaking of refreshments were driven back to Dover.

The time is not far distant when Giant Powder will take the place of black powder for mining purposes, in this section of the country, as it has already in the vast mining regions on the Pacific slope. The same prejudices against it exist here, that existed there, and when miners learn that their lives are not as much endangered by its use as with black powder, they will be as much opposed to working in mines where the latter is used as they were to the introduction of the former.

The foundation of St. Mary's church, near this city, is about finished, and the corner stone of the main edifice will be laid with solemn ceremonies by the Right Reverend Bishop Bayley on Thursday, the 6th of May next.

The Anniversary of Old-Fellowship is being celebrated by a grand parade, etc., as we go to press. An interesting article on it will appear next week.

ALEXANDER ROBERTSON.—On the 23d inst., about 8 o'clock, A. M. ALEXANDER ROBERTSON, one of our most useful and esteemed citizens, departed this life. Mr. Robertson, by the violence of his disease, was compelled to retire to his chamber as an invalid, on the 5th of June, 1871. Since then he has not been able to be out of doors, except upon a few occasions, when the kindness of the temperance and all the surrounding circumstances gave satisfactory evidence that he could venture out, merely to enjoy the air.

The deceased, as most of our establishment citizens know, was the only son of Colin Robertson, who, nearly forty years since, was sheriff of this county.

The deceased in the early part of his life, was engaged in butchering and vending meats in Morrisstown. He retired from that business some eighteen or more years ago, and since then has engaged in no regular business. He devoted his time to the management of his own property and business, and incidentally to the care and management of the estates and affairs of his neighbors—who invoked his advice and aid.

Mr. Robertson's age was less than generally supposed—being only about fifty-four years. Politically, the death of no one man in our county could be a more serious loss to the Democratic party than the death of Mr. Robertson. He was a Democrat at all times and under all circumstances; when defeat overtook us he was more than in his devotion and adherence to the party than on any other occasion; in short he never wavered or faltered.—Banner.

Substance vs Shadow.

Mr. Editor:—

I have many times thought of that foolish dog I once read of, when a boy,—I presume you have read the same story yourself,—how he, while crossing a river on a plank with a piece of meat in his mouth, saw his shadow reflected in the water dropping the real substance which he had in his mouth and jumping into the stream to catch its shadow.

Well, how many are there who do this daily. I often think what shadowy creatures, more or less, we all are. Bishop Berkeley wrote a great deal to try to prove that there is nothing real, but that all things are mere imagination in this life. But this is a little further than I would like to venture, for I fear that if I should once believe that there is nothing real in material things, I soon would have come to the conclusion that there is nothing real in the spiritual. But I thank God my early teaching has been the opposite of this. I have been taught to believe in real things, and not only has this sentiment been inculcated in me in my early life, but doubly so by experience. Yet, what is all the things of this life, but a shadow at best? I care not how much we obtain while here. In the end, the memorable words of that wise man will be reflected back to us, "all is vanity." Berkeley must have thought much of Solomon when he was disputing the existence of matter. There are but few, I fear, but what have been persuaded to believe the same thing, even in our day. But there are only the thoughts of a man of the world, whose mind has no doubt been contented too closely on the things of this life. Well, but are there others who do better, whose preaching is practice? Where shall they be found? We are told that the church is a reflection of this; we are told again that the church is the house of God and its members are the reflectors of His character. Well, now, I really do believe that God intends that these, His words, shall be, and are, true.

But how is a blind man to read that which he cannot see? See what? The difference between the pretended substance and the shadow. For many who pretend to have obtained the substance, powder with the shadow to sustain the substance.

I have often thought of the many devices gotten up for the purpose of sustaining a church. Anything seems almost good enough to do, if the proceeds are only appropriated for church purposes. To go to a theatre in New York city is a commonplace; but to go to one in Dover, when its proceeds are for the benefit of the church, why that's all right. Well, now, my dear friend, I am only making mention of these things, not with the intention of casting any condemnation upon them, by no means, for what do I know about it—a man who has only tasted of the shadows of this life. It is only those who have been filled with the substance that can know these things. But I often wonder in my simple way of thinking, does God, the Father of His church require and uphold these things? Is his hand in this work? Holiness is the Lord's. But they say, you must do these things to get the means, for there are many, and even members of the church, who will readily go, and pay willingly to see the shadow, who will not give to sustain the substance. Now, is this not true, Mr. Editor? You ought to know better than myself. You perhaps have had greater experience. I will not, however, at this time press the question further. I do not intend to say one word against those young men and young women who take part in the moral entertainment. Not at all. I highly approve of them—they have no warmer friend than the writer. But it is the principle and its application I speak of.

I think that God and the devil makes bad partners.

A PRIMITIVE METHODIST.

About seventy-five men are now employed on the lunatic asylum grounds near Morrisstown. Some are engaged in grading the rail and carriage road from the asylum site to the railroad station at Morris Plains; some are engaged in quarrying stone and others in laying water pipes a distance of half a mile from the spring to the site. The contract for the excavation, masonry and brick-work, has been awarded to Robert S. Johnson, of Trenton, the lowest bidder.

John P. Brown is about to erect a large addition to his popular hotel at New Foundland. The roof is to be of tin and will cover 10,000 square feet.

Mine Hill Rising.

Mr. Editor.—Mine Hill, tho' highly elevated, is still rising—not in material substance, for excavations to procure mineral worth deterioration per quantum, but in that which is more valuable—mental and oratorical culture.

Last Wednesday evening we were highly entertained in the Mine Hill Academy by the day scholars of that institution, whose declamations and dialogues reflected praiseworthy credit to their young scholastic minds, and to their gentlemanly and educated preceptor, Mr. Olney. Judging, not merely through our own sensibilities, but from the animated applause and pleasant countenances of a large audience, we think we are safe in saying the exhibition was a success. Highly additional interest was given by superior instrumental and vocal music, as performed by Mr. Olney, Mr. Little and Miss Jenkins, of Mine Hill, Miss DeCamp, of Chester, Miss Fairclough, of Hackensack, and others.

The proceeds of the evening, some $40 is to help purchase a bell for the Academy. May its ringing remind us of the pleasant occasion which procured its needful service and refresh our memory of the gratifying oratory, and superior music in the Mine Hill Academy on the evening of April 24th, 1872.

THE DOMESTIC
SEWING MACHINE
Is the Best of all.

PAINTERS desiring to purchase SEWING MACHINES will find it to their advantage to see and try the DOMESTIC before buying any other.

It runs easier and makes less noise than any other having a shuttle.

Uses fine thread or glass cotton. Tensions are easily managed, being self-adjusting, not found in any other.

Cannot be put out of time—has no cams or gear wheels.

Cannot miss stitches—runs so close—and permits motion of needle bar less liable to break needles because it has round shuttle.

Does not break threads, because of superior tension—less liable to get out of order—has one hundred less number of parts than most others—has 50 points of superiority over all others.

These excellent machines are given out on trial and thorough instructions free.

Any person trying one of these machines and becoming dissatisfied therewith, can exchange, free of charge, for any other manufacturer.

Take no dealer's word that they are not the best until you have tried one.

The Imported Stallion,
French Chief!
For the convenience of Farmers and lovers of good stock, French Chief will stand for March this season at the following named places:
At STABLES of G. M. JONES, DOVER, On Monday and Saturday of each week.
At TAYLOR'S HOTEL, MENDHAM, On Tuesdays and Wednesdays.
At M. B. BROWN'S HOTEL, FLANDERS, On Thursdays, and
At DeCamp's Hotel, MCCAINSVILLE, On Fridays.

Description and Pedigree.
FRENCH CHIEF is a dark mahogany brown color, black legs, mane and tail, sixteen and one-half hands high, and will be seven years old the 4th day of June next. He was bred by England's glory, great-grandson of old Sampson, and was imported by J. M. Jones, of Mendham, in 1871, and weighs between fifteen and sixteen hundred pounds. He is called by the best judges for style and durability, the best horse ever imported to this country.

Conditions.
First.—All Mares with foal, twenty-five dollars.
Second.—All Mares paroled with will be considered with foal.
Third.—All moneys due eight months after time of service.
The season commences the 2nd of April.
BISHOP EVANS,
Dover, New Jersey, Proprietor.

Seven Reasons Why
GLASS
FOR HORSES.
WILL CURE RHEUMATISM, SWELLY, SPRAINS, TENDER Joints, RHEUMATISM, SPRAINS, GALLS, BRUISES, AND LAMENESS OF ALL KINDS.

FIRST.—It is composed of the most powerful and penetrative liquids known in chemistry.

SECOND.—Combined with the above is a Mesmeric Oil, made expressly for this Liniment, and mixed by an expert mesmericist.

THIRD.—The use of the powerful and penetrating ingredients is to drive or force in this beautiful Mesmeric Oil, which lubricates the joints and muscles and immediately cures the disease and compels it to loosen its deadly and poisonous fangs.

FOURTH.—This Mesmeric Oil is used for the same reason (and a good mechanic always uses oil) to make his machinery work with ease and precision. So in the same way the muscles and joints of our animals should be lubricated if we wish to have them work with rapidity and ease.

FIFTH.—It is very soothing to the system, will not burn or blister the animal the least of the "red hot" liniments of the day.

SIXTH.—Not one drop of tincture of cayenne or red pepper can be found in this preparation; for we hold that no liniment can be effective which burns and blisters the animal until the muscles are lost and dried almost to crisp.

SEVENTH.—Every bottle is warranted to give great satisfaction or your money will be refunded. This shows conclusively that the proprietors have full confidence in this preparation, and prove for the seventh time that G. E. S. is the best liniment in the world for horses.
