A Timely and Sensible Warning.
As Christmas time approaches the country will be flooded with a sort of adventurers who will swindle our merchants with advertising schemes that are about as valuable as painting a sign on the side of a barn.

It is a fact that these men are to be seen in every town and village, and they are to be seen in every town and village, and they are to be seen in every town and village.

After that examination the examination report that the capital was impaired about forty thousand dollars.

"The Committee appointed to examine the affairs of the bank," the Secretary continued, "and that of the loans and bills discounted by it have been completed and mark $30,000, leaving $50,000 as available assets."

"How much of that $50,000 can be collected?" a stockholder asked.
"That would be hard to tell," the Secretary replied. "Many of them have promised to pay, but we did not deem it wise to call them in."

There was a rumor in the village that Mr. Decker had been killed by a fire. It was a rumor, and it was not true. Mr. Decker was not killed by a fire.

Fire at Hanover Neck. A gentleman of Montville, acquainted with the facts, writes of a serious fire which occurred on the premises of Mr. Aaron Ball, of Hanover Neck, on Sunday night, at about 10 o'clock. The fire broke out in a barn and spread rapidly, burning down a large barn and a small house, and a large stack of hay, one of straw, one of corn stalks, and one new farm wagon. The live stock and all other movables were saved. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. There was an insurance on the buildings of five hundred dollars.

Playing With the Pistol Again. Another illustration of the danger of playing with firearms, comes from Afton (formerly Columbia) in this county. A boy had left a pistol in the barn of Mr. John H. White, of that place, which was found by his two sons, Fred and Willie, aged eight and six years respectively, who began playing with it. While they were doing so, the pistol accidentally went off in the hands of Freddie and shot his younger brother through the heart, killing him instantly.

Freeman's drug store, at Whippany, was entered by thieves one night last week, who broke out a pane of glass and robbed the money drawer of some small change. The New Jersey State Society have decided to hold their annual show in the Morrisown Lyceum building, very nearly over the same spot in which it was first held in 1792. One of the novelties in clothing now on hand and heavy vests without lining and reversible sides. The cloth is made to show a different color on each side, and is made up with buttons on both sides so as to be worn either side out. The advantage is that when the wearer is tired of clothes of one color he can turn them and have a suit of another color. Next February will have 25 days; it will also have five Sundays. They will fall on the 1st, 8th, 15th, 22nd and 29th. This occurs once in twenty-eight years. The next time will be in 1892, and after that next year it will occur again this century. The same is true of every other day of the week. For instance, February has five Mondays once in every twenty-eight years. The Judiciary of New Jersey is non-partisan, but since the recent election it is more than probable that a Republican will succeed Judge Delmonico in this district. In anticipation of this a little "boom" has started in favor of the appointment of Henry C. Wiley, Esq., to that position. His natural abilities and great legal pro-pensity qualify him for the judicial seat. Mr. John P. Bonnell, of New Vernon, is the inventor of a steam excavator or ditcher, and has, during the last five years, operated the same in the State of New Jersey, and in some of the Southern States. On Saturday Mr. B. started for New Orleans, in the interest of the "New Jersey Steam Excavator Company," to operate the ditcher of his own invention, which promises to realize a fortune for him.—BARNES.

As well as for the advertisement elsewhere, Stationer, the great magician, will give an evening entertainment in Moller's Opera House on Thanksgiving night. He discards all the old-time tricks that have been worn thread bare by performers of this kind, but gives an entirely new series of feats in legions that are really startling making an evening of mystery that is replete with genuine surprises.

The annual report of the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics at Washington, which has just been completed and printed, shows that the last fiscal year was the most remarkable one in the history of American commerce. The quantity of products of the soil exported was wonderful and the balance of trade was over $200,000,000 in favor of the United States. Only 23 per cent of the goods exchanged by sea were carried in American vessels.

Pine Brook. The season of pig-killing and oyster suppers has commenced. Spoons of our neighbors aware of the uncertainty of chickens and turkeys at this period of the year, have taken to putting them under lock and key at night.

Our domestic announced on Sunday that as he understood some did not like long sermons, he should try to meet their views by preaching a short one. He delivered a very good one in half an hour.

Fire at Hanover Neck. A gentleman of Montville, acquainted with the facts, writes of a serious fire which occurred on the premises of Mr. Aaron Ball, of Hanover Neck, on Sunday night, at about 10 o'clock. The fire broke out in a barn and spread rapidly, burning down a large barn and a small house, and a large stack of hay, one of straw, one of corn stalks, and one new farm wagon. The live stock and all other movables were saved. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. There was an insurance on the buildings of five hundred dollars.

Playing With the Pistol Again. Another illustration of the danger of playing with firearms, comes from Afton (formerly Columbia) in this county. A boy had left a pistol in the barn of Mr. John H. White, of that place, which was found by his two sons, Fred and Willie, aged eight and six years respectively, who began playing with it. While they were doing so, the pistol accidentally went off in the hands of Freddie and shot his younger brother through the heart, killing him instantly.

A Horse Thief's Garrot. Chase, L. Mosker, the man recently sent from the Morris County Courts to the New Jersey State Prison for ten years for stealing a horse and phaeton from Alex. McCollum, has a peculiar history, showing a record of crime that is really extraordinary. His record goes back to his first wife was married three times. His first wife was consumptive, and it would seem from an experiment he made that he wanted to get rid of her. He induced her to take a ride with him one summer morning, when it had the appearance of a storm, saying that he had to get back before the rain set in. But instead he kept her in an open buggy all day long, without food, and drove about the country through a cold storm, with his wife drooping to the skin. The result was that she died two days afterward. His second wife disappeared very suddenly, and he was never over told what became of her. His third and present wife is said to be a very fine lady, who is very kind of him, and it appears that Mosker stole the horse and phaeton from McCollum for her use, and she was out enjoying the same upon the road when the property was discovered. Mosker kept his carter as a horse thief about a year ago, when he stole a horse and wagon from Mr. McCollum in Orange. Since then he has been constantly earning and always operating so successfully that his friends supposed that he was engaged in the business of buying and selling. It is said that from the proceeds of his stealings he has paid for a fine farm in Missouri, which he now owns. He was sent to the State Prison for ten years, and from this term he would have been entitled to a reduction of two years in the circumstances. This reduction is given only to those who have been in State Prison before, and after his arrival there it was discovered that he had been an inmate of that institution upon a previous occasion.

The New Winter Time Tables. The new winter time table which went into effect on the D. L. & W. Railroad on Monday last makes fewer changes than are usually made at this season, and gives Dover better accommodations than ever. All west-bound trains leave New York at the same time as heretofore, and consequently arrive here as usual, the Dover Express now continues to run during the winter for the first time. In the East bound train there is an advantageous change—the Brighton Express leaving Dover for New York at 1:27 P. M., making an early afternoon train. In the whole we have ten trains to and from the city each day, giving us the best accommodations of any town along the line north of Orange.

In the time of the Chester Railroad there is but one change. The train which left Chester at 5:50 in the morning, to connect with the Mail at Dover at 7:30, now leaves there at 6 o'clock and connects with the New York Express here at 8:42.

The corrected tables of both roads will be found upon our first page.

He Discovered Who She Was. A young lady, who is of Morrisown, is given whose name we think would be cruel, and therefore refrain—we say to the Morrisown depot one day recently, when he observed a very beautiful young lady get on board the train in company with an elderly couple. So attentive was the lady that the young gentleman also boarded the train, and kept her in sight until the party reached Newark. Then he followed them across the city and by train on the Pennsylvania Railroad until he saw them safely housed in New Brunswick. There he shadowed the premises and made inquiries about the circumstances of the gentleman who lived there, which proved satisfactory. After watching his informant for a couple of days he saw her, accompanied by the same lady and gentleman, on the way to the depot. He again followed the party, this time to Trenton, and finally to Morris Plains, where he first learned the fact that the young lady was a niece of a mill and pleasant character. He returned to Morrisown disgruntled.

The Thanksgiving Entertainment. The entertainment to be given in Whitlock's Hall, Thanksgiving night, by members of the First M. E. Sunday School, promises to be a very enjoyable one, and as this annual entertainment has always been largely attended it would be well for those desiring to obtain seats to procure them in advance. For this purpose diagrams will be opened at Vought & Killgore's and S. H. Broese's on Monday next. The exercises of the evening will consist of recitations, readings, religious dialogues, a number of musical selections, vocal and instrumental, and other features, including a very pretty sketch in two scenes entitled "The Two Beggars," with parts taken by thirteen young ladies. The evening's proceeds will be devoted to meet the current expenses of the school.

In a Dangerous Condition. A public convenience was created for many persons in Dover when, through the efforts of Mr. Chas. G. Griffin and others, the foot bridge over the canal at Bergen street was constructed. But through the awaying of the bridge by hogs and cattle, and in a very sticky condition, and many are afraid to cross. As the bridge is such a great accommodation to so many of our people, would it not be a good thing for the Common Council to have it stayed in such a manner as to make it perfectly secure? The cost would not be very great.

Backoff & Walker. E. S. Barnes, the boss of all banjo players and comic vocalists, will also play selections on the violin, will positively appear Thanksgiving Day and evening, at Backoff & Walker's, Summer street, Dover, N. J. Admission free.

Attend the entertainment at Whitlock's Hall, Thanksgiving night!

Incendiaries seem to be working actively on the divisions line between the counties of Sussex, N. J., and Orange, N. Y. The large barns on the farm of Oscar Dunn, in Wampanoag township, Sussex County, were burned on Sunday night, with a large quantity of hay, grain, carriages, implements, 31 cows, 8 horses and some young stock. The same night the barn of Samuel H. Tooker, just over the line in Orange county, was also burned, but the stock was saved. On Saturday night the Phillipsburg district school house, in the same neighborhood, had stood sixty years, was destroyed in the same manner. Incendiaries was undoubtedly the cause of each fire.

WEEKLY IRON REPORTS. AMERICAN FIGURES. The Engineering and Mining Journal of last Saturday says: The bill in this article still continues, and prices are certainly weaker, sales aggregating about 2,000 tons are reported. Of this total, 500 tons were No. 1 Alleghena at $24 at work, equal to 1,500 tons of No. 2. The loss of iron in agricultural lands are having a more depressing effect on the market than over-production. In fact, iron from makers' hands has not been pressed upon the market to any serious extent, although 50 out of 100 furnaces, in what is known as the Lehigh district, are in blast. There is a very large quantity of foreign iron coming in, and, as it has mostly been purchased on speculative account, there will be a steady pressure to sell and a tendency to lower prices. This iron will for a considerable time have a great influence on the market for American iron. We quote No. 1 Foundry at $27; No. 2 Foundry, $26; and forge, $25 and $26.
